

Hello everyone, my name is Ellena and I am a part of the German Erasmus Team.

The last months our life has changed completely.

We had to solve problems together and I think we all learned very much of this crisis.

I think it is important to go to school, but introducing video conference was a very important step regarding to our all digital future.

For sure not everything worked well from the beginning on, but in my opinion it is a good solution to have in mind and to build on if needed. Also many teachers handled the situation very well and had a plan in mind how to go on. At the beginning it was very new for many students and teachers but afterwards everything worked well and everyone found his favourite system of teaching and learning.

Personally, I could handle the situation of homeschooling quite good.

With this option in mind we can make the entire school system more flexible and also safer for risk people.

Especially in this kind of situation it is very important to stay positive and to help each other.
